RESULTS IN SIGHT

While traffic on our cross state waterway may have so far disappointed the more optimistic expectations, there is no doubt that the business is there and that we shall continue to get it in increasing volume.

This season ought to see a good bulge. According to our reports, there are more yachts over there than ever before. Miami has long been so crowded that even a slight increase causes an overflow. Fort Lauderdale has been the chief beneficiary but facilities there are also getting crowded. Elsewhere from Palm Beach to well below Miami convenient dockage is hard to find and yachtmen are looking around for more elbow room.

So far, however, a good many of them have not yet heard of Fort Myers and access to the West Coast by way of the Caloosahatchee-Okeechobee canal. That is a large measure in our own fault. We haven't advertised it enough. The news has got around mostly by word of mouth and only those yacht which have made the trip are spreading it. Some of them came early and their accommodations were far from as good as ours. The service and pleasure have disappointed others by telling them that while it's a fine cruise the harbor facilities are few and far between and still rather primitive.

More recent and more numerous patrons are telling a different story. They report that the Fort Myers yachting basin, long in the WPA making, is now in service and being brought up to date. They say that there are more yachts docked along the way than only a year ago. Passengers had to leap for shore and hope they could make it in one jump. Government maintenance has also improved, the channel being well marked and free of shoals. The waterway is safe and convenient for everything except the larger sized yachts and when the St. Lucie lock, now under construction, is finished, even that will be taken care of.

Aside from the cruise, which all accounts agree is interesting, the question most frequently asked is how about service en route. Admittedly, this hasn't been well organized in the past, but it is developing with the demand. In Fort Myers it is now at least adequate and can be expanded rapidly if need be.

This is what yachters will hear this winter and will start a lot of them on a trip some have been figuring on and some never heard of. Various trade publications on which they rely for accurate information have been highly recommending the route and noting none of the drawbacks which it pained us to have them mention in previous years. Thus the word is being spread and certain to bring results. The traffic is short and the yachts are easy to handle and very shortly we shall begin to see more encouraging signs of long hoped for patronage—Fort Myers News-Press.

Gibbs Won't Offer For Re-Election

Tallahassee, Dec. 21 (FNS)—Attorney General George Couper Gibbs announced here this week that he would not be a candidate to succeed himself in next year's elections. Gibbs said he would retire to private life and return to his Jacksonville law practice.

His nomination for Attorney General last week while Ed R. Bentley, prominent attorney of Tallahassee, also announced his intention to run for the office. It is an attorney, a circuit court judge and a number of years has served as editor of the Florida Law Journal.

Gibbs' term expires in January, 1941. He was appointed by Governor Cone to succeed the late Cary Landa in May, 1938.

shelter in Port Everglades, in a way, puts the war right inside the door.

The German freighter rests in temporary security at least in the Broward port, trapped but safe as long as Washington agrees that she can stay there. Outside lies a British cruiser, decked out, waiting to pounce on her if she seeks the high seas. And that's a bit of war, right here on Florida's southeast coast whether a gun is fired or not. Again the neutrality belt of the Pan American Conference has been violated. The British warship was apparently within the three-mile limit when it fired a shot across the Aracua's bows. Believers can argue nothing for neutrality zones and territorial limits in the grim business of war.

Here is a real, practical, tangible lesson to our government, to the war and navy departments. We have been trying to impress upon Washington brass hats that this is the logical and strategic area for air bases in plan for defense for the Caribbean and the Panama canal. But we were not heard.

A German freighter, trapped in Port Everglades with a British battleship just outside ready to blow it to atoms, comes pretty near proving the case. The Washington strategists have been given something to think about—Miami Herald.

Mrs. Wells After Senate Job

To Mrs. Hattie Wells of Tampa goes the distinction of being the second woman to announce formally against Charles O. Andrews for his place in the senate.

Mrs. Wells is an experienced campaigner. She is a staunch supporter of the New Deal whereas Senator Andrews at times has gone his own way from the administration, notably on the Supreme court bill.

In 1928, 1932 and again in 1936 Mrs. Wells' National Democratic committee member submitted the slate for Roosevelt.

It will be interesting to see just how far Washington will go toward helping her in her battle against Mr. Andrews.

Now that a woman has shown courage enough to match wits against the acknowledged strength of Senator Andrews, perhaps Governor Cone, who admits he is flitting with senate ambitions, will summon up the gumption to declare himself in the race instead of assuring the voters he wants to remain in the Senate but will announce later.—Miami Herald.

BACK TO NATURE

Nature is beginning to shed her cocoon of billboards; and motorists, idling along highways on a Sunday afternoon may soon get a chance to see the countryside again.

Installed billboard advertising along highways has almost disappeared. In 20 other states are seriously considering steps to return field and stream to the automobile drivers who have paid $30,000,000 for their highways. An enticing girl is all right in her place, but most auto travelers feel her place is not on a billboard alongside the road obstructing the view.

But it isn't the scenery alone that's being removed. Nature, which gave us the quiet fallen off when billboards made their appearance, the National Association of Real Estate Board reports. The real estate men figured out that they'd still be ahead if they paid the outdoor advertising firms, a sum equivalent to the annual revenue from billboard advertising. At any rate, motorists are getting back the beauty of the road, the beauty when they paid for the road.—Palm Beach Post.

HIGHLIGHTS... OF THE LAWRENCEBURG BLUE DEVIL ENCOUNTER

Everglades foot ball fans are astir again over the splendid sportsmanship of the Lawrenceburg football team. Those boys did themselves proud from the minute they entered Pahokee yesterday afternoon until they left bright and early Thursday morning. They won for themselves a warm spot in the hearts of these people here on the shores of Lake Okeechobee who love and admire good sportsmanship.

It seemed more like a homecoming when the boys came to town Tuesday. They seemed to know a lot of our boys. They had a great time seeing the locals in and around this section on Wednesday. The chamber of commerce arranged a group of cars to show the boys around. They visited the huge sugar mill at Clewiston.

After that thrill-packed game Wednesday night the West Palm Beach boys were the guests of the American Legion dance at the pavilion for which an East Coast orchestra provided the music.

What amused this writer more than any other one thing during the game was the way the boys helped each other up after falling, hopped down on a hard tackle or block. The visitors didn't fail to pick their adversaries out of the dirt each time they hopped down. The Blue Devils, it is like, but it seemed to us that there was more picking up done on the part of the visitors. Maybe there was a reason for that.

Henry Barwick, Pahokee bean broker, was just a bit nervous throughout the game—especially during the closing minutes when it looked like the visitors were going to win. But when he turned, put both English over every heave of the ball and cheered by those visitors—in fact he was almost ethereal in his glee. The final score? Anyhow we said he had glad suit of clothes and two pair of pants for the pair he was wearing received a thorough workout during the game.

Gus Roell, of the Bassmaster properties at Port Mayaca, furnished a dandy finale for the game. He strung up the longest string of firecrackers we've ever seen and when the visitors were due to leave to match them. For a minute it sounded like the British cruiser lying off Port Everglades had loaded its guns when that Nazi battleship went off. Florida where we were fireworks at Christmastime, was a fitting climax to an excellent game.

The writer has talked to a lot of people since the game was played,

We have talked to several who entered the Blue Devils who pitted brain and brawn against the visiting foot ball aggregation—and the common opinion is—one and the same thing. Those boys from Lawrenceburg were the finest bunch of sportsmen ever to loss football leather against Hobson's Blue Devils.

Beauty Notes

Lovely Brenda Joyce, the senior new discovery who charmed us so deceptively in "The Broadway Show," has invented

"The Rain Check," which promises to sweep the women's world like wildfire!

It has flavor as well as allure!

In collaboration with Clay Campbell, makeup artist of the House of Westmore, Brenda perfected her lipstick during the filming of "Here I Am A Stranger," the Richard Greene starring vehicle in which Brenda and Richard Derr play the lead parts.

Brenda has used a lipstick with a peppermint tang. Gladys George and Katharine Aldridge who are also featured in the picture, favor lime orange flavor.

Unusual Angle To Campus Theme In
"Sorority House"

A girl's sudden realization that so-called social prestige resulting from membership in her college sorority is in reality a will-o'-the-wisp forms the thematic basis of Anne Shirley's newest picture, "Sorority House." James Ellison plays opposite.

Anne Shirley is cast as a small town girl who aspires to prove eligible for membership. Because of her lack of social position and a lack of greater opportunity, it is not until a young upper-class man spreads a secret rumor that she is an heiress that she is "pushed."

Plan Is Complete To Move Hyacinths

West Palm Beach, Fla. Dec. 21.—The West Palm Beach canal will be kept free of hyacinths here Sunday afternoon after a meeting of the members of the Everglades drainage district, with other interested groups.

R. Y. Patterson, Pahokee drainage district commissioner, offered to provide a boat and crew to remove the weeds from the one-half mile bend to Lake Okeechobee, while H. E. Motter, manager of the Lake Worth Drainage District, said his drainage district would be able to finance maintenance plans from nearby Mile Bend through the district to the East Coast. The Loxahatchee Company, through whose property the canal also runs, agreed to co-operate in the program.

With practically all the canal stretch assured of maintenance the Everglades drainage district commissioners agreed to maintain a crew to remove weeds from the canal over the remaining short stretch. The war department recently cleaned the entire canal of hyacinths.

Lighting Contest Well Under Way

Miss Zora Lee Taylor arrived home Wednesday night from Ocala, where she attends school, to spend the holidays with her parents in Canal Point Monday.

Mrs. Mickey Davis of Sarasota visited her sister, Mrs. Ethel Mathis, in Canal Point Monday.

The Canal Point M. E. church recognized White Christmas last Sunday at the evening services.

The Canal Point M. E. church has a Christmas program scheduled for Sunday.

Sam Rogers of Greenville is visiting his son, Owen Rogers, in Pahokee.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Elliott and children, Patsy and Elmer, have returned from a visit in Bowling Green.

Kennel Club Will Open January 3rd

Ready for its ninth annual season, the Palm Beach Kennel Club will launch a new racing meet January 3rd to provide a source of entertainment nightly except Sunday until early April.

The greyhound racing strings have already arrived, workmen are putting the plant on West Belvedere Road in condition, and all is in readiness for the coming season, which General Manager H. Phillip Bryan expects to be one of the most successful in history of the oval.

The State permit for operation of the Palm Beach Kennel Club allows opening late in December but since it is necessary to run schooling trials race for six evenings before the meet opens, Mr. Bryan defers the opening until January 3rd so that the dog race program will not conflict with local stores during the pre-Christmas evening business.

Some outstanding racing is predicted for the first meet, the possibility of repetition of such events as the championship match staged here last season. This was not only an innovation in local racing but also attracted nation-wide attention among followers of the greyhounds.

The schooling races will start December 26, the day after Christmas, at 7 p.m. in the evenings and will continue through Monday, January 1. Large crowds are expected each night at the schooling races as the fans will be wanting to check the old racing record and the new greyhounds that have arrived for the 1940 meet.

The schooling races also afford splendid opportunity for the children to enjoy this thrilling sport. The public is invited to attend during the schooling races and you are invited to bring the entire family and enjoy the excitement of the greyhound races. After the official opening January 3rd minors will not be admitted.

Woman's Club Has Splendid Program

Fees for the Christmas tree lighting contest were received jointly by the Pahokee Woman's club and the Florida Power and Light company, were announced at the regular meeting of the club Monday afternoon. First prize, $25.00; second, $15.00; third, $10.00. Outdoor trees and those on porches are eligible for the contest. All entries must be received by 3 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 28, and are to be heighted from 7 to 10 p.m., beginning Thursday evening.

Mrs. Henry Brooker, president, who presided, appointed Mrs. Minnie Hughes and her committee to make arrangements for a motion picture to be shown in the club room after Christmas. It was announced the Jan. 1 meeting would be postponed until the following Friday, with Mrs. Hughes having charge of the arrangements.

Club members enjoyed a Christmas party and program. The elementary school children presented parts of their operetta, "When Christmas Comes," under direction of Miss Gloria John Dunlay and Miss Mitchell concluded the program with a piano duet. A large number of girls won prizes under the Christmas tree by the underprivileged children of the community and disabled veterans.

Shipments - Price Slack Same Time

Slack Same Time

With the approach of the holiday season vegetable prices took a tumble from Tuesday night until sale time Wednesday afternoon.

Local dealers expect a strong market until after the Christmas holiday next Monday.

Beginning the first of next week the movement in the Pahokee Canal Point area should be held up during the present season.

The major portion of the heavy fall crop moved from the Belle Glade and Sebring hay areas.

Shipments to the FEC during the past seven day period amounted to only 35 cars of beans, 11 cars of radishes and nine cars of potatoes. There were three mixed cars out and three cars of peans.

Immediately after Christmas the movement on peans should get heavier.

Prices on Thursday of this week were as follows: Tendergreen, 75c to 1.35; Valentine, $1.00; 1.50; Peas 90c to $1.25; Cabbage was selling for around $20 per ton.

Wouldn't Use WPA If Sugar Quota Is Lifted, Says Solon

Sen. Andrews Tells Bartow Group His Ideas On Control Program

Bartow, Dec. 21 (FNS) — "We wouldn't need the WPA if the sugar quota were off permanently and we could produce what we consume right here in the state," Senator Charles O. Andrews told out in a talk here this week.

He explained that expansion of the state's sugar industry "would immediately follow the removal of the quota" and that "then an other mill would be built and at least 30,000 additional acres put to cane which would give employment to thousands of men."

The expansion of the sugar industry would give employment to other thousands making federal relief aid "in this state unnecessary."

Discussing the war situation, Andrews stated that he was opposed to sending American boys overseas, but believed in adequate national defense and said that he had voted for bills to increase our naval strength.

Holiday Program Canal Point School

Students in Canal Point school enjoyed an excellent Christmas program Wednesday afternoon before school was dismissed for the Holiday vacation period. All rooms were brightly decorated for the occasion. Those who witnessed the delightful display say it was the nicest ever arranged by the students and their instructors.

1st Grade: Mrs. Wilma Lence Lighted Christmas tree, tall, with presents on sand table.

2nd Grade: Mrs. Dorothy Williams, Christmas tree, small open on sand table, with presents underneath.

3rd Grade: Miss Mary Lou Zander, Lighted tree, tall, also small tree with presents on teacher's desk.

4th Grade: Mrs. Mary Kerr, Lighted tree, and presents on sand table.

5th Grade: Miss Gladys Folsom, Lighted (tall) tree with bright light at top of tree; with presents on floor, chair of tree.

6th Grade: Miss Ruth Keen. A lighted tree with presents around foot of tree. Homemade fireplace made out of cartons and covered with red paper, and decorated with two large red candies.

7th Grade: Miss Sue Maxwell. Life-sized fireplace painted red, decorated with arbutus veta, and colored paper chains with shiny bells. Made from Australian pine boughs, all arranged and made by pupils of the room. Presents on mantle and around hearth. Wooden pot of ferns (made by Mamie Trammell) with a red candle inside each one covered in maple oak wood in the fireplace with glowing red paper to make the real fire effect.

8th Grade: C. M. Mills. Tall lighted tree with presents arranged around foot on the floor. A small brown owl perched on a short limb served as mascot for the afternoon upon the cloak-room wall. He came along with the entire room for any miscreant youngster who might get that extra apple. (This owl was a real one, and as the girls sat at their desks with their eyes closed, they winked at him first.)

The owl was brought by Richard Howell for the afternoon performance.

Boat registrations for participation in the Sixth Annual Silver Sailfish Derby, West Palm Beach, January 14 to January 16, are now being taken. Total registrations for last year's Derby, considerably more than it was at this time last December. The contest is a free-for-all, and now is featured in national sports magazines.

Season's Greetings to All

Glory To God in the Highest, And On Earth Peace, Good Will Toward Men

Throughout our land at Christmastide ring these words of the heavenly host, They soar from chapel to belfry, they echo in hail-fellow shouts down Manhattan's canyons and across the deep water between ships at sea.

Country lane and crossroads set them to the music of tinkling sleigh bells or the whisper of tropical palms.

At last they pulse with every heart beat, for Christmas, after all, dwells within the breast.

Man is not too frail to keep his song surging through the year. Yet in his lesser moments, the Spirit of Christmas must seek shelter from ignoble thoughts and deeds.

But so long as the Spirit can gush forth again at this most sacred season, man has yet the courage and faith to hear the heavenly host.

We extend heartiest, most sincere Christmas greetings!

TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY

By Russell Kay.

Of all Christmas stories, one of the most delightful to my mind is that of the "Fourth" Wise Man.

Down through the years the story of the "Three Wise Men" has been as familiar to all, as the fable of the "Three Bears." Wise Men are not so generally known, yet it is a very beautiful story with a message of deep import to mankind.

It seems however were ready to die instead of three wise men. Men and upon receiving the wonderful message of the birth of the new King, it was agreed among them, that they would meet at dawn of the third day journey together to lay gifts at the feet of the Child of Bethlehem.

On his way to the agreed meeting place, the "Fourth," Wise Man stopped by the wayside to give in consequence he failed to arrive in time to join his friends on their long journey.

So he went on alone, but as he traveled he encountered fellow men in greater need. With each man he tarried and part of the treasure he carried, that their suffering might be relieved.

By the time he finally reached Judea, he found that Jesus and Mary had fled to Egypt. The Captain Child of course the wrath of Herod.

Through the year, he traveled on hoping to find the Christ, that he might lay at his feet, the remainder of the gifts he possessed, as the last offering. Place no place, he continued to find fellow beings in grave trouble, the sick, the blind and the poor. To all he gave generously of his treasure, a jewel here, a bit of gold there, until he found himself without a single material thing that he might lay at Jesus foot. Empty handed he found the Master with nothing to offer other than the greatest gift of all—a record of unselfish, helpful service to his fellow men.

And in this troubled world today, there is a greater need for "Fourth" Wise Men than ever before. While it is proper and fitting for those whose means permit to be generous with material gifts, money, food, clothing and similar aids, equally great and just as important are the little acts of love, hope and encouragement, the encouraging word, the helping hand and sympathetic heart. Gifts of the Spirit that possesses power for good beyond all things material.

We in America today should truly appreciate the glorious spirit of Christmas and give heartfelt thanks for the countless blessings that are ours.

We should look about us and perhaps up opportunity to show our gratitude by sharing with others and lending a helping hand to those less fortunate than ourselves.

Individuals we cannot hope to overcome the ills of the world, but in our own little sphere, we can look to our neighbors and concern ourselves with their welfare. Then our purse may be empty, there is treasure greater than gold, locked within the heart of every man, treasure inexhaustable, that can be drawn on without end, that can bring real and lasting comfort. Miles and miles of sunny smiles that can warm many a weary heart. Strong helping hands for little tasks that illness and despair have made burdensome to others.

And as we give, so we receive. There is no joy in life so great as that which naturally comes to us as we share our treasures with those in greater need. As we exercise this age-old living principle we find that when we unselfishly concern ourselves with others, our own rewards and blessings multiply.

As far as it is my sincere hope that the story of the "Fourth" Wise Man will bring to you the KET to a more wonderful, joyous Christmas for all.

The FOURTH Wise Man, it seems to me, Was wiser than the other Three.

Palm Beach County will have its own Football Holiday game on the program when a team of all-star seniors from the Palm Beach, Pahokee and Lake Worth high school gridiron squads meets the Mt. Carmel High eleven from Chicago, on Anderson Field, West Palm Beach, on the night of December 30.

Twenty-eight players from the three schools have been invited to play in the inter-sectional game which is being sponsored by Palm Beach Post No. 12, American Legion. Palm Beach is to furnish ten players. Pahokee will contribute eleven and Lake Worth, seven. Coaches Whittington of Palm Beach, Bullard of Lake Worth and Hobson of Pahokee will work together in grooming the All-Stars for the game. While selections have been limited to senior players, it is believed that the team will be the strongest, fastest and most alert possible to be assembled from the three squads.

Mt. Carmel, champions of Cook County, Illinois, will arrive in West Palm Beach the day before the game. The squad has just come through a most successful season and is rated as one of the best in the country.

Altogether, the game shapes up as a real battle and so much interest has been shown by sport fans in the county that a record crowd is expected to be on hand for the opening kickoff.

Admission is $1.00 for adults. Reserve seats at same price while they last on sale at Pahokee High School, Engram's Drug Store, Lake Worth, First National Bank Travel Bureau, Palm Beach, and the American Legion Home, West Palm Beach. Student tickets will be available at $.50. Students' section west side of field.

Town Of Christmas Is A Busy Village

Town of Christmas, Florida, December 21, 1939. To the thousands of other Floridians, it hasn't been Christmas for 361 days now, but for pretty postmistress Juanita S. Tucker of this tiny office, the next four days will be labor and thrill packed with plenty of night work.

The town of Christmas, like 60,000 pieces of mail to this small postoffice from every state in the United States, and at least a dozen foreign countries, began last month. Today the cancellation machine works at full speed, while sorting tables pile high with letters and packages forwarded to the post office to be cancelled and bear the insignia "A Joyous Christmas, 1939." Letters are personally posted with a Christmas tree cachet, added just as a little extra touch from the comely little woman who is a native of this Orange county town.

Extra help is needed to get the rush mail out in time to reach its destination. Each year two Christmas cards are received by the postmistress that she is proud of: one is signed by James A. Farley, and the other President and Mrs. Roosevelt.

It remained for Florida Governor Cone and Georgia's Governor Tamm to keep a date set in 1934 by the governors of the two states to meet at the State Line. Talmadge wired Shultz at that time, referring to the new route from Jasper, Florida, via Lakeland, Okaloosa, Gainesville, and Ocala to Palatka, Ga. On Friday, December 1, Cone and Rivers will meet at Jasper to officially open the new route to the north.

Power Employee Is Electrocuted

W. F. O'Quinn, 45, Stuart, was electrocuted to death late Monday afternoon, while as an employee of the Florida Power and Light company, he was working in Pompano on top of a tower. He was taken down by fellow workers who tried without success, to revive him.

He is survived by his wife, who lives in the Horace Atwood apartment, West Front Street; a daughter, Mrs. Pauline Powers, who lives in the R. T. Jackson apartment on Flagler Street, and a grown son, who arrived Tuesday morning from Tennessee.

The body, taken to the Fairchild Funeral Home, Fort Lauderdale, will be shipped to Milan, Tenn., for burial and will be accompanied by Mrs. O'Quinn and Mr. Pillow.

The O'Quinns have been residing in Stuart since March and prior to that time lived in Belle Glade.

Pahokee Methodists Schedule Revival

The Pahokee Methodist Church has obtained the services of the Rev. P. R. Powers, Akron, Ohio, for a revival beginning April 7. The Christmas program for both the Sunday school and church will be held Dec. 24 with the offering of that day going to the retired minister. Mrs. B. S. Waring was appointed to obtain a large Christmas tree.

Board members and their wives and husbands enjoyed a chicken dinner in the church dining room before the meeting. Mrs. Fred L. Martin had charge of the serving.

IT'S CHRISTMAS AGAIN

At this stage of the journey we would like to pause a moment and exchange a word of good cheer with our friends. So to you who have helped make the past year a happy one we extend our best wishes for a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

Again we come to the gayest, happiest season of the year. The day when good will and friendliness reign supreme, when friends and neighbors everywhere forget the cares and toils of the workaday life and rejoice in the happiness and pleasures of others. It is at this bright season of the year that we too catch the spirit of Christmas in our business, and wish for every man, woman, and child in our community all of the joys and happiness which this day affords.

May everything good come your way throughout the year 1940, and health, happiness and prosperity abound plentifully with you and yours through every day of the New Year. It is with sincere thankfulness and appreciation for the many favors you have bestowed upon this business, and each one of us individually, that we extend to you . . .

Graduating Players Give Interviews And Advice To Followers

Modesty Causes Each Man To Choose Another As Best Player

***Ed's note: We meant this to be a farewell column to the boys who have played such a good game this year; we meant to have them interview all the stars on the team, but when we started to write, the words would not come. So, we decided to interview all the seniors on the team, and here are some questions: What was the toughest game this year? Who is the most valuable player on the team? To whom do you beseech your good fortune? What is the best game on the season? Favorite color hair (girl's hair), Ambition in life. Last words to the school as a football player?

First we interviewed Jack Fowles, the star fighting and running back of eraser throwers and in the hill of the fight, he answered our questions. He was born in Fitzgerald, Georgia, likes hunting better than football, but has been playing football all over again. He thought the Fort Pierce game was the hardest, that J. L. is the most valuable player on the team; believes him to place in the All Conference team. As last (don't you think it was awful) words, he gave us these to go to our football annals: "I had a good time playing on this team with you boys and I wish you lots of success."

Next we found Walter Cross, not with Mary, but studying. He, too, thought Fort Pierce was the hardest game we played this year; with his place in James Weller, he said he will have to play for the team all sit awhile." Thinks Kermit Dell is the most valuable player on the team and closed his interview with: "Though we the seniors, are now on our way, we wish not to discourage those who follow but rather inspire them on to greater victories."

Next we came upon Mr. Marion "Buster" Speedy" Spangler. Confided he was born in Macon, Georgia, and prefers her blondes and brunettes mixed. Football is his favorite sport and he has a deep desire to become a college senior eleven. His hobby is dancing and his dancing is as good as his football. "Lawrenceburg beat us the first time," he said, "but we are playing better ball now." Likes basketball and will receive in Palm Beach and play the ball that we played there we can beat them."

Then we had a conversation with the fullback, Kermitt Dell. He was born in Dothan (guess which state). Football is his favorite sport and his ambition is to go to college after he graduates. He too, likes basketball and football. Come back again and we will be able to tell you what he could.

His comment on the Lawrenceburg game was, "I figure we are going to have to play ball to win, but I think we can do it." Bill Kautz enjoys his conversation with "Orney" Bender, in fact he would hardly answer the questions we put to him, he was so taken up with her. Pahokee was the hardest game, our schedule this year: H. B. Baker is the most valuable player; beneath his place, not to Pahokee, he is to the sub with "Trust and obey your leader (Coach Hobson)." Johnny wasn't born in Port Mayaca but way up in Gearing, Neb. When asked what he had gotten out of football, he replied, "black eyes, a broken hand and a good time." He added that the fall and pale were worth it though, and he wishes he had four more years in high school to play. Johnny wants to attend Georgia Tech and play football there if he is "good enough."

Martin and Helen Jean were laughing and having fun, but we had to interview him. He thought West Palm Beach was the hardest game we played this year; he is the most valuable player on the team; and leaves his place at tackle to "Preacher" Weatherington. Marvin was born in Miami, Florida, and says he has a good memory of football, much better than any other sport and wants to be a Civil Engineer when he finished school. He is another Goodrich Tech respecter.

He believes the Lawrenceburg game is going to be a hard, clean game. "This game is my last high school game and I will be in there trying and I hope we will fit for my remembrance of Pahokee High."

H. B. was born in Bacon Point which shows he is an old timer around here. He is equally good in his favorite sports and will be a good baseball. Oh, poor pneumonia set him for a loss this season but he came back fighting harder than ever and won the position as lineman in the All Conference team.

As last (don't you think it was awful) words, he gave us these to go to our football annals: "I had a good time playing on this team with you boys and I wish you lots of success."

I. J. was smugly seated in a booth when we found him. He thought West Palm Beach was the hardest game and wills his place on the team to Calvis Peacock.

"Shorty" was born in Jonesboro, Arkansas, and his two brothers belong to the team. "I think this game with Teenagers," he said talking through a hole in his row of teeth, "is going to be a tough game and we will give them a belt full of surprises, they are just lucky before."

He then offered this advice to the team: "Pahokee has always had a small fighting team so just keep it up and we will come out on top."

On our way out, Pardouska finally broke it up and we got these answers: Fort Pierce was the toughest game of the year; thinks Marvin Union our little brother is the most valuable player. The boys on the battlefield are the most valuable players. He wills his place on the bench next to Coach to anyone that will have it, but we know that "Nug" is going to be a good one.

"P" thinks he made this year. He told the sub: "Just because there are so many seniors on the team this year, don't stop fighting. Pahokee has always had a good team and this year have just as good or better next year."

Elmo, working industriously on a typewriter, found time to give a brief interview. He said he was a Yankee born in Greenwich, Connecticut and tells the boys "Never say die." He thought the Stuart game was the hardest, but Lawrenceburg will be the most difficult.

For those John Kautz enjoyed his conversation with "Orney" Bender, in fact he would hardly answer the questions we put to him, he was so taken up with her.

Pahokee was the hardest game, our schedule this year: H. B. Baker is the most valuable player; beneath his place, not to Pahokee, he is to the sub with "Trust and obey your leader (Coach Hobson)." Johnny wasn't born in Port Mayaca but way up in Gearing, Neb.

He added that the fall and pale were worth it though, and he wishes he had four more years in high school to play. Johnny wants to attend Georgia Tech and play football there if he is "good enough."

WINSTON MILLS, MAINE—Thrown out of work when a shoe factory closed last year, Mervin Flanders came back to his home town and started a wreath business. Flanders' success story started with a ball of string, some barrel tops, some spruce branches and a little ingenuity. Now he's perfected a method that speeds up the wreath-making process by ten times. Shoemaking, he says, taught him a little about trees. Again

The happiest and gayest time of the year is here again. When friends are friendlier and neighbors are more neighborly. We must all forget our workaday life and enter into the gay spirit of the holiday season.

We would wish for you at this time abundance of good cheer for Christmas and prosperity during the New year.

We hope we may have the pleasure of serving you with ice in 1940. We appreciate your business during the past year.

A Christmas Reconciliation

MARY and John had quarreled, just before Christmas, too. The Christmas candle had burned, and then, in the excitement, each had forgotten the other, and had forgotten small Mary, led to her bedroom in tears and John stalked off in the snowy night.

The Christmas candle became a welcome from the snow as John started around the block again. He was cold; and sorry, but he mustn't go in too soon.

The Christmas bells, though, their little girl asleep in her crib and dreaming of Santa Claus—all were a mockery. Mary went into the living room and shut herself in the corner, crying for a long hour and forgetting. Instead there came the strains of "Silent Night"—"Peace on earth, good will to men,"—God bless every soul, but John, who did not say mass. Wasn't there anything else, except Christmas programs? A click brought back the silence.

She opened the front door. Next came the sound of a knock, to come in. Tell him she was sorry. Now that she stopped to think, she knew that he was sorry, too. And that a few words of explanation, and then, them meant spoil their Christmas?

But John did not come. It was too cold to stand at the door any longer, but she sat at the window, and watched him, and forgot everything for a long hour. An hour went by.

When at last she saw him coming, the relief almost choked her. He was striding rapidly, carrying something in his arms. She opened the door for him and he handed his burden to her:

"Here, Mary, hold him. Careful, now. His leg's hurt. I took him to a vet and he's a better dog."

She looked down at the warm bundle. It was a furry puppy. One leg was in splints. The puppy whimpered a little and licked his hand.

"John, where did you get him?"

"Accident. Over on Linden. Fell out of a passing car. I took him to a vet and he's a better dog. I made a cute pot for Alice!"

He stopped his work and straightened up. "I'm awfully sorry, Mary. I was a fool."

"John, what's Alice?"

"Alice is my kid brother. After all, maybe his kid brother was pushing through his mind that maybe it was he who lacked real sense."

He picked up Hal's letter again. After all, maybe his kid brother was pushing through his mind that maybe it was he who lacked real sense.

"I'm awfully sorry, John. Their eyes met in perfect understanding. How silly to quarrel! The silence was a more impressive reconciliation than words. Mary broke it again. "There are some clean rags in that drawer. And we ought to get him something to eat. He can have a meal for a day, I suppose, with a puppy of course." John came and put his arm around her, and they stood close together watching their pet lay gradually.

"We ought to tell Mr. Peasemaker," said John. "And it hadn't been for him, I might have still been out there in the snow."

"Oh, John," said Alice, hugging him close. "We all know I was worried when you didn't come. If anything had happened to me I could never have forgiven myself."

"Of course, I forgot. We have so much left to do! The tree, and

"Oh, no! What's wrong?"

"Such names for a poor innocent puppy! Maybe we had better see what Alice wants to call him in the name." She took the puppy down with a cover of many miles. John came and put his arm around her, and they stood close together watching their pet lay gradually.

"We ought to tell Mr. Peasemaker," said John. "And it hadn't been for him, I might have still been out there in the snow."

"Oh, John," said Alice, hugging him close. "We all know I was worried when you didn't come. If anything had happened to me I could never have forgiven myself."

"Of course, I forgot. We have so much left to do! The tree, and

"Oh, no! What's wrong?"

"Such names for a poor innocent puppy! Maybe we had better see what Alice wants to call him in the name." She took the puppy down with a cover of many miles. John came and put his arm around her, and they stood close together watching their pet lay gradually.

"We're going to forget business for today," said Miss Denby.

He nodded, and put his watch on the table. "Here, pooh," he said.

"It's bedtime for you," he said. "I'll lift the puppy up to bed." He lifted the puppy up to bed, and then turned his back with a "Good night for you, mifidy," he said. "And then we see—

"I want a kiss for Christmas, and then we're going to play. I'll go to sleep now, and then we'll wake up again."

He closed the door, and then, the tree, and maybe even change another batch of candy. OK? Then, it's time, darling, to say Merry, Merry Christmas."

Alice's doll must be unpacked, and her stocking filled. What time is it?" He looked at his watch. "Almost midnight."

"Not really!"

He nodded, and put his watch on the table. "Here, pooh," he said.

"It's bedtime for you," he said.

"I'll lift the puppy up to bed," he said.

"Good night for you, mifidy," he said.

"And then we see—

"I want a kiss for Christmas, and then we're going to play. I'll go to sleep now, and then we'll wake up again."

He closed the door, and then, the tree, and maybe even change another batch of candy. OK? Then, it's time, darling, to say Merry, Merry Christmas."

A Christmas Awakening
By Katherine Edelman

"WITH Christmas drawing near, why can't we get together?" asked a man in the plane. Robert Dutton read his mail. With calm deliberation, he put the heavily screwed letter back into its envelope.

"Always the impractical Hal," he said slowly. "No wonder he never gets anywhere."

A list of appointments waited upon his desk. Visits from the editor, the manager of the town, a delegation about a right-of-way through a tract of land had just purchased; a number of tales had come to him to be told at a funeral.

Important things, he thought.

"Always the impractical Hal," he said slowly. "No wonder he never gets anywhere."

A man had been waiting for him since the morning. The visitor was a man of middle age, with a kind face.

"I am a simpleton," he said.

"I am a simpleton," he said again.

(continued from page 6) the Tennessee game was "well salted," roll over him like a sack of salt." Dan Beardley confided in us that he was born in Moore Haven. He thought Stuart played the hardest fought game but added that Lauderdale would be one of the toughest games we have played. "We held them for three quarters before and I think we can hold them for this time," added Beardley to the club was "Keep up the good work."

To close this article, we must say something for the manager, Carter Winataed. He must have been a good man for his son said he was the best that he had ever had. Carter, I'm sure that the whole school will back us when we say, "We're sorry you're leaving."

THANKSGIVING DINNER

To show their skill in cooking the Home Economics 2 class prepared a Thanksgiving dinner for the members of the Pahokee schools.

The Thanksgiving dinner was carried out in the decoration of the room and dining tables.

The menu consisted of Turkey, ham, corn, boiled beans, string beans, olives, meat, turkey and dressing, creamed asparagus, stuffed baked potatoes, hot rolls, butter, Waldorf salad, pumpkin pie, mince meat pie, and coffee.

The Thanksgiving dinner was enjoyed by all.

Mrs. Mildred Wilcox, Mrs. Beardley, Mrs. York, Mrs. Bolton, Miss Caraway, Miss Kennedy, Mrs. Roach, Mrs. Cawley, Mrs. Everett, Miss Ingemann, Mrs. Douthit, Miss Lawrence, Miss Parrish, Mr. and Mrs. Caudill, Mrs. Hundley, Prof. Kendra, Coach Hobson, Coach Cagin, Mr. Fletcher, and Mr. Kocher.

JUNIOR DEVILS TRIMMED

Last Tuesday night Junior Juniors met at Pahokee, Canal Point

Junior High Blue Devils on the short end of the score letting the Juniors Tigers beat them 19 to 6.

Tigers fast kick men and their aerial attack kept the Devil's panting.

The Junior Devils line-up was:

J. F. Bridges—right end.

L. Johnson—right tackle.

K. Gilliland—center guard.

W. Baker—center.

J. Gilliland—left guard.

B. Johnson—left tackle.

H. Allard—quarterback.

M. Quigley—right halfback.

R. Howell—full back.

The substitutes for the game were Stokes, Bass, Sims, and Wilkinson.

NEW SPORTS HERE

To foster inter-scholastic sports in Pahokee High School the Athletic Council has purchased equipment for tennis, volley ball, horse shoes, shuffle board, badminton, and darts. These activities are intended to be put somewhere near the gym.

The plan of the council is to get more students engaged in sports and other activities. At present the equipments under supervision of the Future Farmers.

GLEE CLUB

"There's a song in the air" and likely as not, it is the Junior High School Girl's Glee Club you hear. These girls with their director, Mrs. Mitchell, carried out the old fashioned caroling in the residential section of Pahokee carrying the Christmas spirit to the same many of the old Tidetide carols which they had memorized, among them, very appropriately, was "Here We Come A-caroling." This is the second year that some of the school children have caroled the town.

4-H CLUB ELECT OFFICERS

The Senior 4-H Club members met for their regular monthly meeting Monday afternoon in the typing room. Officers elected were: President, Betty Freedman; Vice-president, Edna Ingemann; secretary-treasurer and reporter, Isetta Frazer; council delegate, Elaine Freedman; alternate council delegate, Lucille Holt.

The election will be held Friday, December 22, at the court house in West Palm Beach. All 4-H club members are especially urged to attend.

COMMERCIAL CLUB

The Commercial Club held its weekly business meeting Thursday in the typewriter room.

The club constitution was read by Marion Spomer and approved by the members of the club.

A standing social committee, consisting of Virginia Anderson and Dey Tatton, was selected by the club with a majority vote. A club reporter, Naomi Akin, was also elected at the time.

The program committee chairman, Mary Louise Jeffries, gave a brief synopsis of our next planned program.

Pan American Club

The Pan American Club enjoyed a Christmas party, Dec. 26, in the school gym.

The club discussed the Pan American Club conference to be held in Miami, Dec. 29 and 30. Roberta Thompson, Dorothy Taylor, and Lois Wells were appointed to secure chaperones and transportation for the members attending the conference.

Mr. Bragger spoke on relations between Argentina and the United States, and pronunciation of Spanish words. Dorothy Tucker gave a talk on Mexican Christmas customs.

The members exchanged gifts and enjoyed refreshments of candy.
